

What's New At Heirlooms?

Happy
New Year!!!

May your 2022 be filled with many blessings.

What we know is that it will be filled with happy and sad moments.

Moments of loss, moments of laughter and of love.

A time to give and a time to receive and a new year of friendships for some, new beginnings, endless possibilities and many memories.

It is what we choose to make of these moments that count. Sheryllyn

BOTANICA

THE THREE-DIMENSIONAL EMBROIDERY
OF JULIE KNIEDL

INSPIRATIONS

INSPIRE : BOT ~ BOTANICA ~ $ 60.00

Embroidery is a wonderful narrator - it can tell stories about modern trends and current events, give insights into timeless cultures and age-old traditions, even reveal great moments in history in a truly unique way. It also has the ability to tell a much more personal story, to take us on one person's stitching journey and allow us to share their passion as we follow their progress. This book tells such a story.

Julie Kniedl's passion was three-dimensional embroidery, the accurate and artful depiction of plants with needle and thread, completely removed from the constraints of a flat, fabric background. She created embroideries that can be touched, picked up and turned around.

Her subject matter was often ordinary and everyday - a pear, a lemon and even a humble cauliflower, but with her insatiable curiosity, unerring eye for detail and ingenious approach, she turned each one into a magical embroidery adventure.

Using a small range of readily available materials and simple embroidery stitches and techniques, Julie was able to capture the fragile and ephemeral beauty of flowers, fruit and seedpods with a needle and thread. Her ability to look at an object and interpret it in a clever and inventive way that can be replicated by others adds another important page to the embroidery story.

While Julie's own journey ended unexpectedly when she passed away in August 2017, her wonderful embroidery legacy remains and will continue to encourage us to push the boundaries, break the rules, and, as she did, discover exciting new ways with needle and thread.

A Fine Tradition

The Embroidery of Margaret Light

INSPIRATIONS

INSPIRE : TRAD ~ A FINE TRADITION ~ $ 60.00

Discover a fine tradition

Inspired by traditional motifs, colour palettes and techniques, fourteen superb projects such as beautiful needlework accessories, decorative panels and embroidered tiles bring to life an extraordinary design heritage ranging from striking early 16th century Islamic tiles, 17th century crewel bed hangings and Indian block prints to the eloquent style of the late 19th century Arts and Crafts movement.

Showcasing her passion for joyful stitching using ingenious stitches, delight in the sumptuous interplay of colour, stitch and thread combinations in the embroidery of Margaret Light.

Detailed instructions are provided for every step from stitching to construction and a comprehensive library of diagrams and step-by-step photographs covering more than ninety stitches.

PINCUSHIONS

INSPIRE : PIN ~ THE DESIGN COLLECTIVE - PINCUSHIONS ~ $ 73.00

Inspirations asked twelve of the worlds most talented needlework artisans to create a pincushion.

Each designer was given the same brief.

No rules. No guidelines.

The only criteria: the final project must house pins and needles.

The result?

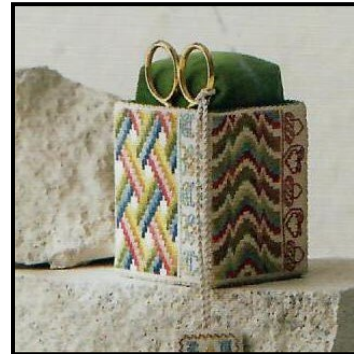

The most imaginative, clever, and artistic pincushions you have ever seen.
